AusLogics RegistryFixer is a professional software application whose purpose is to help you fix your registry errors by finding, repairing, or removing registry errors. The tool is also able to defragment the registry in order to make your system run faster. How your registry becomes bloated The registry area acts a database, where all programs deposit their settings in order to run properly. An uninstallation process doesn't ensure that your registry files are deleted from the system, so the registry becomes bloated with a bunch of old and unnecessary items. If you are currently installing a lot of utilities on your computer, you should take into account that a slow system performance may be the cause of incorrectly stored registry settings. The tool offers support for a backup mode for making sure you can always recover your data, which can be activated before making the necessary changes to your system. Straightforward interface You are welcomed by a clean feature lineup where you are allowed to view an overview about your system health status (last scan, found errors, percentage of system damage), activate the scanning or defragmentation mode, restore the changes made your computer, as well as make the tool run at Windows start up. Scanning and registry defragmentation operations AusLogics RegistryFixer features a single yet powerful scanning mode which looks for registry errors that are slowing down your system. It carries out the scanning process very quickly but this pretty much depends on the size of your registry files, and at the end of the task you can view details about the total number of detected registry errors, and issues related to installed software, system configuration, and user configuration. The utility reveals the damage percentage for each category and provides additional details about errors (e.g. firewall, Internet, help files, file associations). Plus, you may generate a comprehensive HTML report with info about each error. You can opt for a defragmentation process which helps you remove all traces of the deleted keys and reduce the size of the registry. An overall efficient registry fixer All in all, AusLogics RegistryFixer proves to be a reliable registry tweaking app that comes bundled with a powerful detection algorithm and defragmentation options backed up by a straightforward approach. AusLogics Reg_Chk is a professional software tool, which is designed to find any errors, and save your system at the same time, preventing the possibility of system crashes. How your registry becomes bloated The registry is regarded as the heart of Windows
