Nine men are arrested over Paris attacks French authorities have arrested nine men suspected of planning a series of terror attacks after raids in Paris and the southwestern city of Toulouse. One of the men was in France awaiting the birth of his first child, while others were being investigated after allegedly planning to take part in armed robbery and bank raids. The court in Toulouse said the men were also connected to the Algerian gunman who killed French paratroopers in November. One of the suspects, identified as 24-year-old Ayman Salim, was arrested after he returned from Syria, according to the Paris prosecutor's office. The raid began in the early hours of Tuesday morning at three sites across Toulouse after a tip-off from Syrian intelligence services. The Paris prosecutor, Francois Molins, said nine men had been arrested in the region of Toulouse while 11 were held in Paris.
