How to create layered image masks Adobe Photoshop CS2 does not come with integrated image-editing software, but it has a layer-based editing system that enables images to be edited by placing multiple layers on top of one another. These layers are, in effect, image masks and can be altered separately and viewed through other layers. Creating Photoshop image masks to filter and blur an image can be useful in many circumstances. Sometimes, for example, you want to remove specks from a photograph and you may want to create a series of layers, each one with an image mask that filters the image differently. Here are the steps for creating layered Photoshop image masks: Click on any photo in the workspace, then use the Move tool (M) to select the photo. Then use the Expand tool (E) to create a new layer and select the Clipping Mask option, as shown in the following image. Use the Pen tool (P) to draw a circle around the portion of the photo you want to mask. This will be your mask. Select the mask layer, and then use any tool to select the remaining portion of the photo you want to keep visible. Use any tool to select the remaining part of the photo that you want visible, as shown in the following image. By using the Lasso tool (L), create a selection and then click OK to accept the selection. Use the same approach described above to create a mask for the filter you want to apply to the photo. Click OK to accept the mask. Using the Paint Bucket tool (B), click anywhere on the mask to remove any part you don't want the mask to cover. Then use the Rectangle tool (R) to place the cursor over the photo. A border will appear around the photo, but this is only there to help you see the areas that are covered by the mask. Use the Eraser tool to remove the area of the photo you don't want covered by the mask. If you want to remove any part of the photo that has been masked, you can simply select the mask, hold the Shift key, and then press the Delete key to reveal any parts of the photo that have been masked. Once you're finished, click OK to accept the mask. The mask is shown in the following image. We're

I'm not making any other changes to the June 15th deal to make up for this missing value. D Enron North America Corp. From: Megan Parker @ ENRON 11/13/2000 01:52 PM To: Daren J Farmer/HOU/ECT@ECT cc: Subject: Calpine Energy Services, Inc. - June 2000 Daren: Calpine Energy Services, Inc. pulled $1,688,883.25 in June 2000 off of ENA and on to CES for new deals. According to CES, this amount should have been booked to new deals, so I changed the pricing on deal 151186 and 151215 from CES to ENA. These deals are for Calpine Energy Services, Inc. If you could let me know what correction needs to be made, I can redraft the invoice and re-send it out. Megan set up the task. He also made an order of the court for the arrest of the Solicitor General, and took care that the three offices of the Solicitor General, the Prothonotary and the Advocate General, should be left open, that all the orders made by him after the King's letter should be confirmed. All this was done on the same day, and with great ease, the Solicitor General's secretary being taken from him, and the three offices shut up. The Regency continued until the King returned. He advised Henry of this new turn that had happened, and exhorted him to be firm, and not to let the insolent crew of enemies find him guilty of weakness. But the King himself, ever good and friendly, sent a messenger and laid the trouble before his son: his Majesty added that he would not permit that the House of Lords should be dissolved until he knew what the King's opinion of the new majority would be. The prince answered that he had no doubt that the majority was bad, and did not think it better to make any change till a Royal Audience had taken place. With this view he went to Ampthill House, some miles from London, where he now generally resided. Finding

Q: Restrict Height of html container with position fixed I am using position: fixed to get a div to always stay at the top of the page regardless of scrolling. The problem is that the div has a tendency to grow way beyond it's normal scrollbar height. Is there anyway to restrict the height of that div to the normal scrollbar height? Here is my code: HTML: 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 CSS: .banner_topbar_nav { margin-top: 80px; width: 100%; height: auto; position: fixed; background-image:

url(images/nav_bg.png); background-repeat: no-repeat; background-position:
center; } .topbar_1 { margin-left: 10px; height: 42px; width: 300px; background-
