As always, the best part of League is the games. April is shaping up to be a busy month for Heroes of the Storm and Misfits. If you missed the already released tank skin featuring Ricky Ortiz, you'll want to head over and grab it. League of Legends also introduced new skins in their latest patch, with the Vayne skin receiving a lot of attention. In Heroes of the Storm, the next two weeks are filled with Nexus/Summer Rift content, including the updated Nexus Leagues/Alliances, the new Pantheon event, and a new Breach limited time event featuring the Nexus Ravager. View the event schedule here: Alliance and Nexus Ranks The Heroes of the Storm Alliance format and ranking system has been revamped in order to make it easier to see a player's achievements on the game. As a result of this, the NA and EU rankings have been combined into one ranking, which may differ slightly from the legacy system. To help players navigate the ranks, the North American Alliance and Nexus Leagues and the European Nexus League and Alliance groups have also been condensed into a single set of leagues and ranks. Additionally, the Alliance and Nexus ranks will be reset at the end of each season. The new season is set to begin on May 1st. As always, points are earned by completing objectives in League of Legends matches, including: Kill / Damage: Kills and damage done to the enemy Nexus, its minions, or its structures Kills and damage done to the enemy Nexus, its minions, or its structures Assists:

Reversible changes in arterial reactivity and renin secretion in cats with chronic unilateral renal artery stenosis. Chronic unilateral stenosis of the renal artery (RSA) was produced in 7 adult female cats to study the effects of chronic renal insufficiency and the relief of renal ischaemia on arterial reactivity and renin secretion. Six weeks after ligation, the degree of renal parenchymal atrophy on the stenotic (RSA) and contralateral (CRA) kidneys was similar to that observed in controls. Regional blood flow was significantly increased in the exposed renal bed at 12 weeks postoperatively in both the stenotic and contralateral kidneys. The ratio of regional blood flow to cardiac output was significantly lower than in controls in both the stenotic and contralateral kidneys. Renin secretion per gram kidney was significantly increased in the stenotic kidney. When the stenosis was relieved after 12 weeks, there was a significantly higher regional blood flow on the stenotic side than on the contralateral side. The ratio of regional blood flow to cardiac output in the stenotic kidney increased to normal and the increased renin secretion in the stenotic kidney was reduced. Thus, arterial reactivity may be enhanced in chronically stenosed kidneys. Renal ischaemia may stimulate renin secretion but the renin release may be inhibited by increased reactivity. All of the elements, including microquantities of explosives, are packed inside a plastic bottle, a handmade shoebox, or the lining of a jacket. When the contents of the container is detonated, the blast of energy creates a series of colored gases or bursts, depending on the type of explosive used. "When something detonates, it creates a cloud of gas. The gas then looks for a pressure difference in front of it so it can go through that hole," explains Humphrey Williams, art director for the project. "We can create different kinds of gas, depending on what materials we use." The final product is a type of sculpture that is entirely handmade. It serves as a message for the onlooker about the destruction of plastic. The Bristol Boys is comprised of dozens of different configurations, including the "Tower of Destruction," which is the largest and tallest shape of the three. To construct the "Tower of Destruction," the creators had to walk through fields around South London in order to gather plastic that would ultimately be
