Sara -----Original Message----- From: St. Clair, Carol Sent: Friday, July 13, 2001 12:45 PM To: 'dietrich@coral-energy.com'; 'pallen@whitecase.com' Subject: Canadian ISDA Definitions Sara: Here are some of the other issues arising from the comments we received on the Definitions. 1. We need to make sure that the language we use in the Contract makes sense

when used as an exhibit to this ISDA. For example, if we decide that the Contract is governed by New York law but the Margin Agreement is governed by Texas law (and maybe the parties agree to this), does that mean the Margin Agreement is automatically terminated? If we are going to only have a Margin Agreement when the "Margin Amount" is in excess of $100,000, and we have a CSA for something less than $100,000, what triggers the CSA? Does it matter if the Contract is ever assigned? If the Contract is assigned, do we need to make sure we change the contract so that the CSA is not there anymore? Do we need to ensure that an assignment of the Contract is also accompanied by an assignment of the CSA? Can an ISDA be amended to make it either a CSA or a Margin Agreement and not to duplicate the provisions in the amendment? 2. Can you give me the provisions of the Margin Agreement which would prevent the Margin Agreement from being assigned by any party without the consent of the other? Would this apply to the entire Margin Agreement or just the assignment provision? 3. The definition of "termination" in the CSA should be different than the definition in the "Termination" provision in the Margin Agreement. Why is that? Can we re-write the definition of "Termination" in the CSA to make it like the definition in the Margin Agreement? 4.
