In order to allow both users and site editors to easily moderate different types of content on the site we use a feature from the WordPress website that allows us to separate the site pages into different categories. Category pages allow more than one category to be selected and when a post is saved to the site it will be placed in the default category. As a result, if a post is saved as being in a category it will be displayed to site visitors in the same category. For site staff only, we have created a Site Managers category. In order to make this category available to site staff only, we created a custom role inside the WordPress installation that has all the site administration features and permissions that we think are needed for a site manager. The Site Managers role will be assigned site-wide to both users and editors. e3d0a04c9c
